

MARGARET MURRAY FULSTONE Memorial Scholarship - 2018

Margaret Murray Fulstone was a long-time resident of Antelope Valley. After graduating from Iowa State University in 1942, she acquired her first job as a teacher at Coleville High School. She was only a few years older than most of her students, but she earned their respect because of her intellect, their admiration because of her commitment to excellence, and their friendship because she made learning fun.

Shortly after she came to Coleville, Margaret met and married Barton Fulstone. Together, they had four children, all of whom graduated from Antelope Elementary and Coleville High School. Margaret Fulstone officially taught school for only two years but epitomized the role of an educator throughout her life. She was interested in everything around her, was a voracious reader, and was passionate about every child's right to an education. She was a model of lifelong learning and shared that legacy with everyone she met.

After Margaret Fulstone's death in August of 2000, her daughters established a scholarship of $500 in her honor to be awarded each year to a graduate of Coleville High School. The recipient should be committed to furthering their education. The applicant is requested to write an essay, complete a scholarship form, provide an academic transcript, and include two letters of personal recommendation. One letter of recommendation should come from a teacher and one should come from a community member who is familiar with the student's volunteer and/or employment experience.

Complete applications are due to Mary Hussman at Coleville High School by May 1, 2018.
